DETAILED ACTION

This Office action is in response to the amendment filed January 24, 2004.

Claims 1-7 as drawn to elected Invention I are currently pending and are under examination.

Withdrawal of Objections and Rejections

The rejection of claims 1-2, 5-7 under 35 U.S.C § 102(b) as being anticipated by Wong et al. is withdrawn.

The rejection of claims 2-4 under 35 U.S.C § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wong et al. in view of Crespo et al. US patent No. 6,248,588 is withdrawn.

Response to arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

New rejection(s) and objection(s)

Drawings

Drawings are objected for containing legends. The legends need to be placed in the Detailed Description of the Drawings in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-2 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hwang United States Patent Publication US 2003/0032674.

Hwang discloses a pharmaceutical composition comprising a therapeutic effective amount of the saturated fatty acid, docosahexaenoic acid that is bound to serum albumin (abstract; Page 4, Section 0031, Lines 1-17; Page 6, Section 0064, Lines 1-12 and section 0067, Lines 1-7).

The examiner would like to point out that the limitation “for mitigating ischemic and hemorrhagic tissue damage”, is a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention and must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 939, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

Furthermore, it must be noted that, "Products of identical chemical composition can not have mutually exclusive properties." A chemical composition and its properties are inseparable. Therefore, if the prior art teaches the identical chemical structure, the properties applicant discloses and/or claims are necessarily present. In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 709, 15 USPQ2d 1655, 1658 (Fed. Cir. 1990).

Thus Hwang teaches all the elements of claims 1-2 and 5-7 and these claims are anticipated under 35 USC 102(e).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 2-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hwang in view of Crespo et al. United States Patent 6,248,588 (claim 2 has been rejected because claims 3 and 4 depend from independent claim 2).

Hwang discloses a pharmaceutical composition as mentioned above.

Hwang does not disclose a pharmaceutical composition comprising recombinant human serum albumin.

Crespo et al. disclose a pharmaceutical composition comprising recombinant human serum albumin. Crespo et al. teach that, advantageously, the compositions according to the invention comprise purified human plasma albumin or a recombinant human albumin. HSA is the most abundant blood protein and it has been known to play an important role in maintaining normal osmolarity of the blood flow, it has exceptional binding capacity for various substances and plays an important role in both in the endogenous transport of hydrophobic molecules (such as steroids and bile salts) and that of different therapeutic substances which may transported to their respective sites of action. Furthermore HSA has been implicated in the break down of prostaglandins. The development of genetic engineering and of new extraction and purification techniques has opened the possibility of obtaining, at a lower cost price, improved products of higher purity, of greater stability and without the risk of viral contamination (for example hepatitis B and AIDS). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to prepare a therapeutic composition comprising recombinant human serum albumin for the advantages of a safer, higher quality and more cost effect product as taught by Hwang and Crespo et al., see Crespo et al. at column 4, lines 45-52.

Conclusion

No claims are allowed

Applicants' amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
